

HCWA is an association of independent firms of accountants throughout the UK. Our member firms help clients to build their businesses, whilst maintaining the highest standards of technical support and customer service.

Members often work together sharing best practice. There is frequent networking at forums, meetings and conferences. As an association we feel that our story is best told by those firms already benefiting from membership:

“Our long-term involvement with HCWA has been of tremendous importance to the practice in satisfying training needs, providing technical resources and marketing support. These have all helped us achieve our ambition of being a serious player in the local market place across a wide range of services.

In addition we have benefited by being able to supply a unique service to other member firms who can refer work to us with confidence in the area of offshore tax planning for their corporate clients and also for high net worth and non domiciled clients across the country.”

Roger Barrs, Managing Director, Horwath Clark Whitehill LLC
