HCWA is an association of independent firms of accountants throughout the UK. Our member firms help clients to build their businesses, whilst maintaining the highest standards of technical support and customer service.

Members often work together sharing best practice. There is frequent networking at forums, meetings and conferences. As an association we feel that our story is best told by those firms already benefiting from membership:

“The really big wins of HCWA membership for us are actually the dull things that no-one wants to spend time doing but you’ve absolutely got to get right and keep up-to-date. These include audit processes and procedures, technical updates, engagement letters, risk management systems and the like.

On a more stimulating note, the fact we can shout about access to quality service and sector specialists, has undoubtedly enabled us to compete successfully with the big nationals in winning premium clients... and some national awards.

And, last but not least, it’s an unrivalled opportunity to share war stories with colleagues and friends who are facing the very same challenges that we are.”
